Best Practice I

Title of the Practice:

Monetary Help to the deserving students

Objectives of the Practice

It has been obtained from the profile students joining various courses of the college that there are many students coming from the rural areas with low economic back ground. Their parents are unable to provide them a sustained financial support because of agriculture, being a gamble with rain in the district, is not a source of assured income. So, the noble objectives of the practice are

- To extend financial aid to the poor students, especially from the rural, to save them from discontinuation of their studies owing to poverty.
- To support financially all the deserving poor students without any discrimination of caste, creed or gender.
- To promote the 'equality' among the students

The expected outcome is that the students should be able to complete their degrees with good marks.

The Context

The noble objective had its teething as well as challenging troubles in implementation.

- Pooling up of the required resources was a tough task.
- Verification of the financial backwardness of the aspirants was yet another challenge. The management has insisted on strict adherence to the rules

The Practice

In and around the areas of the college, there has been a long history of frequent droughts and famines, which have ravaged the rural life throwing the people into miserable conditions of abject poverty, illiteracy and ill-health. In a situation of such dire poverty, whatever meager resources available are used primarily to make both ends meet. So, sending their children to the town for higher education becomes almost impossibility for the poor parents in the rural areas, in the context of higher education demanding higher amounts of money. Though, sometimes, they do venture to admit their children to colleges in the town, they are unable to give sustained financial support throughout the course of study because agriculture, being a gamble with rain in the district, is not a source of assured income. So, it is evident that without financial support from an external source, the rural youth cannot hope to successfully complete their higher studies.

Innovation and Best Practices -P.E.S.College of Science, Arts & Commerce

This illustrious institution, true to its legacy of pro-poor-student attitude since its inception, has taken a firm resolve to extend all possible financial support to the deserving students and help them to realize their fond dream of acquiring higher education. For this, the college instituted voluntary donations from staff. The financial support is extended to all the deserving poor students without any discrimination of caste, creed or gender.

The students whose parents do not have fixed reasonable source of income and do not enjoy any other financial assistance in the form of social welfare or endowment scholarships are eligible for the aid. Apart from the monetary aspect, endowment scholarships are a proof of academic achievement and hence, the students are developing a keen spirit of competition to secure the endowment scholarships, another source of the aid is our faculty members. Drawing inspiration from institution's legacy of pro-poor-student attitude and action, wherever possible, they are paying the tuition fee and examination fee of regular and industrious students who are unable to pay the fees owing to poverty. Lack of will on the part of the majority of the elite and successive droughts and famines in the district are the known constraints.

Evidence of Success

To cite the noble practice, the college fee and exam fee of the following students paid by Faculty members.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

In the beginning this best practice, some group of people opposed the idea that the welfare scholarship holders too should be given the opportunity.

- They also expressed growing apprehension that the funds, for the purpose would be misused.
- As a result, most of the staff did not come forward to contribute to the fund.
- Some even blamed that the idea of the Endowment Scholarships is not based on social justice.
- The college had to overcome many of these impediments to persuade the alumni and other philanthropists in favour of instituting the endowment
